Impressive Memorial Service Held Last Sunday

Taber has a First Class
Military Band

Last Sunday was a "Red Letter Day"

A most impressive "Memorial Service" in Honor of our Heroes, who fought in the Great War for the Sterling principles of "Real Justice and Equity for all Men," was held last Sunday 11th. June in the Park at Bow Island.

The day was a glorious one and a big crowd attended from all parts and the Ladies were out in most beautiful Dresses and Hats—all were in Summer's regalia, and a most Martial air was given to our Town with Flags flying from many buildings and the "Review" decked their Flag with Green Garlands to the Memory of those Immortal Heroes and amid the beat of Drums and the clarion sounds of Brass Instruments and observed by hundreds of people, the "Veterans of Bow Island and surrounding Districts," to the Bugle sound of the "Fall in" took their places in the ranks and they presented a most Smart and Soldierly appearance as with Military precision they swung forward with beautiful rhythm and time—their marching was beautiful to see as it was perfection—they marched as one man.

It recalled to the writer's mind, indelible scenes of the past—when similar but larger scenes of glory had been gone through with 50,000 men marshalled in grim battle array to meet the foe.

"The Taber Miners' Band" is a First Class Band, it should be called "The Taber Military Band," and to ears hungry for such Military Music it was simply life itself.

"Lives there a man
With soul so dead,
Who never to himself hath said:
"Mine own, my native land?"

The Rev. C.G. Hockin was in charge of the Service, and he preached a very nice sermon, so that all the large crowd assembled there could hear him quite well, which is rather hard to do, out in an open space, he honored the men that were there and also the memory of the Heroes who "Went West," and his words must have brought comfort to any aching hearts that were in that crowd of people gathered there, for the purpose of keeping the Memory ever Green for the Sacrifices paid by the Living and the Dead.

The Band's Musical Masterpiece was rendered when they most thrillingly played that stirring Military Hymn "Onward Christian Soldiers."

Owing to the weather being uncertain the Band held their Sacred Concert in the L.O.O.F. Hall instead of the Park, and the Hall was crowded to its capacity also a great number of people enjoyed the Concert, sitting in their cars or standing along the Main Street, there were some very nice Recitations given, some good singing and some fine Band Selections, and it all went to make up a Splendid Concert.—The Taber Band were all in full Uniform.

Everyone will welcome the Taber Miners' Band (Taber Military Band) again and we hope it will not be too long before they come again to Bow Island. Taber! we send you most Heartily Congratulations on your Splendid Band — "Long Live the Boys"

A Real Show Coming

Take the Children to see this Newest and Cleanest of Shows

To these that have reached mature years the coming of the Circus means simply that they will have several hours' keen enjoyment away from the ordinary run of pleasures. But to the youngsters' Show Day is THE Day, a Red Letter Day, an occasion long to be remembered. You recall with vivid memory, do you not, the very first Show you ever saw? How you stared round-eyed at those fierce looking animals. And you remember too, don't you, how you failed to understand why those elephants had tails in front and back and how father laughed when you asked him about it? Then there was the music of the Bands, the wonderful Acrobatic feats of the gaily dressed performers, the funny antics of the Clowns all making an indelible impression on your childish mind and transplanting you to a real wonderland.

Many another Child will experience these enjoyable impressions on Tuesday June 20th. when the WHEELER BROS. SHOWS will exhibit afternoon and night at Bow Island

We hope with all our heart that every youngster in the vicinity has the pleasure of seeing this wonderful attraction or rather, this collection of attractions. There are many educational features with a large enterprise like the above, the foremost of which, in our opinion, is that many a youth has been encouraged to greater achievements along physical lines by noting the results obtained by persistent and continued efforts.

Yes, we hope that all the little folk around here attend the WHEELER BROS. SHOWS and our sympathies are with the little boy or girl who is compelled to stay at home while their more fortunate associates go to the Show and returned to relate with childish exaggerations, the wonders they have seen

Serious Fires Occur In Different Parts Of City of Belfast

Belfast.—Tonight has been a night of fire in Belfast. A dozen outbreaks have been reported up to midnight. It is reported that the Model School, a fine building in the Falls Road, was destroyed. Incendiary bombs were employed in starting the fire. Two attempts were made last week to burn the school.

The Falls Road Library also was set on fire during the night, and it is to the warden of the authorities there was plenty of shooting in various sections of the city.

The Ulster Association has sent a message to Winston Spencer Churchill, Secretary for the Colonies, remarking that the Catholic Protection Committee in its telegram to the secretary early in the week telling of the number of Catholics murdered, did not refer to the number of Protestants murdered.

Between May 22 and 26, the message says, ten Protestants were killed and several others threatened with death. The premises of 18 Protestant firms were set on fire.

Dublin.—Michael Collins, head of the Provisional Government, has left for London. He was accompanied by William Cosgrave, Minister of Local Government in the Dublin Executive Council, and Denis O'Hare, Secretary of the Provisional Government. It is supposed here that the main subject of today's discussion at London was the text of the free state constitution, which, Arthur Griffith, the Dublin President, took with him. This constitution must conform strictly to the terms of the Anglo-Irish treaty, and has been drafted with that object. If the British ministers are satisfied with it, and that it is considered unlikely they will enter a quarrel with the Irish representatives because they made a pact with Gammon de Valera.

The view here among Sinn Féiners of both wings is that the pact recently arrived between Collins and de Valera is primarily a domestic matter designed to keep solid for the longest possible time all comrades of the Sinn Féin party left control pass to other sections of Irish opinion identified in the past with a moderate policy.

Drayton Says

Pledges Ignored

Conservative Amendment to Budget Criticizes King Government

Ottawa.—When the budget debate was resumed, Sir Henry Dufferin made an amendment, which, after quoting the Liberal tariff platform of the 1919 convention and the next year had been restated as the Liberal policy in the Liberal handbook of 1912, declared that "the Liberal party have been returned to power, the budget proposals of the Finance Minister now brought down for consideration on the part of the Government an utter failure to implement such pledges by legislation."

The Drayton amendment declares that the "making of such solemn pledges; the utilization of them to secure support and their flagrant disregard and the use of them to secure support and a tendency to lower the standard of public life."

VERY REAL DANGER TO THE WORLD PRESENTED BY RUSSIAN SITUATION

London.—Lloyd George in presenting to the House his report on the China conference in respect to Russia, said in part:

"The problem naturally exciting the most controversy was that of Russia. It was no use questioning the situation, said the Premier. There, in the conference, the Russian representatives represented the unchallenged masters for the time being of that formidable and very different people. The millions of Russia could only be brought into contact with the outside world through them, and they were rescued from hunger and death through them. The treasures of Russia, the Premier pointed out, were not unlinked to the outside world except through them. The peace or war with Russia could only be made with them, and whether Russia should march forward or retreat with its 1,500,000 men under arms today, or whether the 4,000,000 in the rear should march back tomorrow is a question whether they obey them or not."

"That was the first fact you had to get firmly into your mind before you began the business of Russia," Mr. Lloyd George declared. "There were three alternatives in dealing with the situation. It was not a question of which of the three we could prefer; it was a question of which of the three was possible. There was first of all recourse to force, which has been tried before and failed, but which was never suggested at Genoa. The second was to leave Russia to her fate until the hard season of winter was past and acceptable conditions, and the third was what I have previously described to the House as the Pitt policy."

"With regard to the first, none discussed and none suggested it. I came to the second, where we may be driven to adopt, and that is that we should leave Russia to her fate until the changes. None put policy forward at Genoa, and if we dealt with it now, it would be because it was the only policy left if the third did not succeed. If you left Russia to itself, assuming that this government should go, what next? It was either to have more extreme communist organization or the possibility of a militarist organization. It is beyond reason to ignore the peace of Europe under that policy."

The Premier alluded to the Russo-German agreement as a check to which the conference itself cast upon the minister possibilities of leaving this question alone, although it was a greater error, in his judgment, a mistake, undoubtedly by Germany. "I am not going to dwell," Mr.

Lloyd George added, "upon the silly forgeries of military conventions which take no one in except the gullible. Here you had two of the greatest nations of the world, whether regarded in territory, population or resources, both out of favor, each of them having done something which might have been excused, except the gullible. Here you had two of the greatest nations of the world, whether regarded in territory, population or resources, both out of favor, each of them having done something which might have been excused, except the gullible. Here you had two of the greatest nations of the world, whether regarded in territory, population or resources, both out of favor, each of them having done something which might have been excused, except the gullible."

"Peace was signed with nations of equal quality, but there was a sense of the superior nation and the inferior nation, of the nation that sits above and the nation that sits below. These were fundamental facts in the present situation. There might be good reasons for this. It was a fact of the world which all nations had behaved discreditably. You felt that in the conference and they felt it. The fact was a community of misfortune, a community of debate and a community of what they regarded as a common enemy. There was a difficulty of getting on communications. The discredited feels that he wants the society of another and the other feels that he wants the society of this. What did that mean? Germany was alarmed and if necessary you could disarm her still more. You could take it, I do not say every gun away, but you could take most of them and you could render her perfectly impotent, but there is one thing you cannot do and that is prevent the rearming of Russia. It is the business of statesmen to do what they can. Germany could not equip Russia economically, not having the capital. But she could equip her with armaments as there is every natural resource in the one country and complete technical skill in the other. It is necessary that we should look at all the possibilities of the situation, and I hope the warning I have given today may not be equated a few years hence."

The Premier spoke slowly, emphasizing each word of the above sentence by tapping the box in front of him. "It is my sincere hope," he continued, still emphasizing each word, "that the occasion will never arise that it will be necessary to go back and refer to the warning which I utter as to the dangers of the possibilities of this situation."

"The average man," the Premier went on, "cannot be excited to hopes or fears by the prospect of something happening years hence. It is the business of statesmen to look ahead, and that is why I am appealing to the House that has the responsibility on behalf of great nation and empire, responsibility, not merely for that empire, but a responsibility which extends to the people of Europe, to think as to the dangers in the possibilities and to prepare ahead."

Musical Festival

Splendor of Massed Choral Singing

Subject of Comment
Regina.—Not less than 3,500 people gathered at the Stadium on Wednesday evening and in point of attendance the day may be said to have been a great success in spite of the holiday rather than because of it. For trains both into Regina and out of Regina brought large crowds, and though hundreds sought rural refuge from paved streets, hundreds of others came in to attend the festival—a proportion of them to take part.

The evening programme was given over to the final performance of the Class A brass bands, choral societies and military bands. This was followed by the performance of the massed choral societies—an aggregation of something like 1,000 singers—of Bachmann's "Cherubim Song" under the baton of Franks Stevenson, conductor of the Orpheus Choral Society of Saskatoon.

The subject of the 1922 musical festival, when the Orpheus Society won the shield in the choral society contest with 174 points. The Moose Jaw Choral Society, conducted by W. H. Maxwell, came second with 178. The Regina Choral Society, conducted by F. Laubach, was given third place with 163 points; and Prince Albert Choral Society, conducted by Madame J. E. Morrier, was fourth, with 160½ points.

The splendor of the massed choral singing can best be imagined from the statement of T. Tertius Noble, who has shown no inclination to be overliberal of praise, but who said of this culminating production, "This is a festival chorus most undoubtedly and it is made up of magnificent material."

Serious Position

Of British Aviation

France Will Have 226 Squadrons Against Britain's 12

London.—Major W. T. Blake, of the Royal Air Force, and Captain Norman MacMillan, who is the director of Sir Ross Smith took over the latter's plan to fly around the world, were entertained at luncheon in London by the Daily News. Lord Montagu of Beaulieu presiding, it was announced that a private individual was financing the entire expedition. Lord Montagu speaking of the serious position of British aviation said the end of 1922 would find the French with 226 air squadrons compared with Great Britain's 12.

To Discuss Waterway Project

U.S. Notifies Canada that It Would Like to Open Negotiations

New York.—The United States administration has notified Canada that it wishes to open negotiations for the construction of the St. Lawrence Great Lakes Ship Canal as soon as possible. A Washington correspondent of the Tribune declares in a dispatch. The correspondent says he learned that this request has been transmitted to the Ottawa Government by Sir Auckland Giddes, British ambassador in Washington, at the request of Secretary of State Hughes.

"This is the latest step in the history of this project, so vital to many great lakes towns with visions of Majesties steaming up their docks," says the Tribune story. "President Harding became convinced some time ago that a treaty would have to be negotiated before any legislation should be passed. This decision was made about the time the advocates of the project especially those from the States in the northern part of the middle west."

"The Canadian Government it is learned here is very much embarrassed by the request just received by this Government at this time. No official information has been allowed to reach Washington some time ago to the effect that while Mackenzie King, present head of the Canadian Government, was personally favorable to the project he did not wish it brought up at this time."

"The British embassy has been so informed by the Canadian Government and has transmitted the request to the State Department, but no official statement has been made by this Government about the request."

Drainage Work in Alberta

Thousands of Acres of Reclaimed Land Put Under Cultivation

Edmonton.—L. C. Chace, water irrigation and drainage commissioner for the Provincial Government has returned from an inspection of the flood control, drainage system preparatory to taking over from the contractors. The work is practically completed and a good portion of the 15,000 acres of land thus reclaimed is already being put under cultivation.

The drainage scheme, in which some 15,000 acres will be involved is now in process of construction and work will be carried on through the summer. The likelihood of getting it nearly or fully completed this year.

Fatal Canoe Accident

Two Men Drown When Canoe Overturns in Rapids

Winnipeg.—Overturning of a canoe containing three members of the forestry service, on Winnipeg River, above Manitowish Rapids, resulted in the drowning of Fred French, a first-year student in the forestry school, University of Toronto, and Albert Bale, of Winnipeg, a cook, according to word received here.

Another university student, N. M. Kestel, succeeded in reaching shore after making a valiant effort to rescue French. He held him until he realized they both would be drawn over the rapids, when he was forced to relinquish his hold. French and Bale were swept over the rapids.

To Save Europe's Problems

London.—Prime Minister Lloyd George, acknowledging a message from the Welsh Nationalist Parliament, said that Great Britain's struggle to solve Europe's urgent problems in a spirit of co-operation and peace was only beginning. He added that the Geneva conference had pointed the way and that he was confident the goal would be reached.

Wage Readjustment On U. S. Railways Effects Big Saving

Chicago.—Readjustment of the wages of approximately 400,000 men of way employees of the railways of the United States effective July 1, in accordance with decreases in the cost of living and wages in similar outside employment since the decision of the board last July was provided for in a decision by the United States Railway Labor Board just made public.

The decision is expected to reduce present payrolls about $14,000,000 per year and to reduce the pay of the majority of the maintenance of way men five cents per hour, but important classes of the employees were given on a smaller cut. Under the majority head were included truck laborers and other classes usually designated as "common laborers."

The decision was signed by three railroad members of the board and three members representing the public group. A dissenting opinion was filed by the three members representing the labor group. The dissenting opinion declared that the wage scale provided in the decision was insufficient to sustain life on the basis of present standards.

In announcing a separate decision for maintenance of way employees in advance of its decision as to the other classes, the board complied with a request made by the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and Railroad Shop Laborers which asked that its case be given precedence and decided as speedily as possible. The classes not embraced in the savings number from thirty to thirty-five per cent. of the total railway employees.

In the decision the board called attention to the fact that the present adjustment was based on previous wage reductions, the first of which on July 20, 1920, increased approximately $600,000,000 a year, and the second, the decision of July 1, 1921, which slashed about $100,000,000 from the wages of some two million employees in all parts of the country. In the present decision the board was based upon horizontal increases or decreases of the scales prevailing in similar outside employment, and it ruled, all of which were different for different divisions of the same road. Thus, it was said, the minimum rates authorized in the present decision will apply only to a very few divisions of a few roads in small groups of States, principally the south and southwest.

Temperance and Morals

Liquor Question Will Be Issue in Quebec Elections

Montreal.—There will certainly be elections. I cannot say just when, I hope they will come soon, but I certainly don't think they will be held either in June or July.

This was the feature of the speech made by Hon. J. L. Perron, Provincial Minister of Health, addressing the members of L'Association de la Parole Libérale here. He added: "Whether the sale of liquor in this province is to continue under Government control or go back to individual vendors as under the old license system, is in my opinion the fundamental question and it is on this question first and foremost that elections will be held in this province."

M. Perron declared that alcohol in Nova Scotia was a necessity. "We must have it, for if we did not there would be worse things. The revenue part, after all, is only a secondary matter. It is a question of temperance and morals."

End Occupation in Italy

Will Be Withdrawn Allied Troops From Upper Sicily

Paris.—The allied military occupation of Upper Sicily is likely to come to an end by the last of July, according to the report of the allied commission for the district which was considered by the council of ambassadors. Fourteen thousand men at the allied forces are still in Upper Sicily. Of these 11,000 are French, 1,500 British and 1,500 Italian.

The Germans and the Poles recently reached an agreement covering adjustment of the district and the commissioner now forecasts a situation which will permit complete withdrawal of the military within 60 days.

The Wheeler Bros Shows Coming To Brighten Humdrum Existence
The sun peeps over the eastern hills in a blaze of glory. The winter awakens and starts another busy day. The small boy rises from his bed and hurries from home while the dew is still left on the grass. The country folk arise before the dawn and hurry through their chores, don their Sunday clothes and start for town, where all about in air of waiting expectancy and gathering crowds in holiday attire. The anxiously awaited event has come at last.

With the coming of dawn the show train pulls into town and at once commences a series of business and pleasure shows. The audience is quickly obeyed by a vast throng of workers who help to unload the trains. Even the elephants are called into service. All are noisy and excited while all about are spectators starting with surprise and wonder at the many marvels and wonders still covered with the protecting canvas.

On the show grounds the same hurry is going on. Acres of canvas over the ground, stakes are being driven, the big poles pulled into place and in the twinkling of an eye the large pavilions are raised, while over all many bright colored banners float in the soft morning breeze.

This is the daily experience of a big show requiring the most careful supervision to accomplish the seemingly impossible feat of getting ready for the afternoon performance, and as the scenes to be witnessed at Bow Island.

THE WHEELER BROS. SHOWS will arrive for two performances on Tuesday June 20th.

INDEPENDENCE ON TWO ACRES

house there are prunes, peaches, plums, apples, pears, cherries, and even a "Concord" vine full of fruit. Mr. Jones sold $200 worth of apples last year—$82 of which came from two trees alone.

The chief pride of this model farm in miniature is, however, the poultry. There are 200 head altogether and the 150 layers are kept in one house—divided off into compartments with a run in front of each. As soon as one run looks stale it is dug up, sown down to rape and another run used. Scarf-runner beans are growing all up the south end of the run as shade. The poultry are Barred Rocks and Leghorns. The house itself is of an exceptional design the owner's own idea entirely. The floor space is 50 ft. by

Three cows, a couple of hundred hens, an orchard, small fruit and a market garden, all on two acres of land in the suburbs of Vancouver! How many sweltering folk in the dusty city limits would believe it possible? And yet Mr. Jones does it, and makes himself an independent man.

Method against Method, foresight and hard work are three essentials to success, which have made Mr. Jones independent. He has stacked up three tons of hay this summer off the three-fourths of an acre that he devotes to hay, just timothy and clover mixed, nothing else.

All the milk is sold locally at a quarter for $1, and the neighbors are only too glad to come and get it themselves.

About 1/2 acre is devoted to mangolds and feed carrots for the cows. Mr. Jones has only a little alfalfa to buy for winter, together with the bran and shorts. He has a machine for chopping the hay before feeding, which is an economy in itself.

The one stable is spotlessly clean and drained into a tank outside whence the liquid manure is taken to the vegetable garden. Cow and chicken manure mixed are generously applied wherever and whenever possible and the effect of this added to naturally rich soil is great. All the vegetables are sold retail (thus doing away with the middleman) and being a gardener's instinct, Mr. Jones follows a certain rotation of crop in planting.

For instance, brussels sprouts are set out where the early green peas were last year, and under the soil so as to get full advantage of the nitrogen contained in the stalks and leaves of the legumes. In the same way horseradish (curly kale) is planted immediately after the "beans."

He keeps his own seed from cress, onions, parsley and leeks and finds that it suits itself to the soil better each year.

There are plenty of currant and gooseberry bushes and some fine strawberries, but the best of his small fruit are the raspberries, of which he has 700 to 800 canes, and these have proved as profitable that Mr. Jones is going to plant 1/2 acre more next year.

In the orchard in two feet of soil

14 1/2, raised 4 ft. off the ground and the space underneath used for dust baths and which, of course, are thus dry all the year round. From these the hens enter the house through an opening in the floor.

Mr. Jones was a dairy farmer in the north of France before he came out to Canada fifteen years ago. "Up to last year" he worked in an iron foundry in town, but found that his little farm was paying him so well that he now gives all his time to it. His wife takes no less interest in it all than he does, so that both are "working partners"—the expression.

The illustration shows a view of the "Jones" farm.

Quick Work in Germany

Tree Being Transformed Into Newsprint Paper Within a Single Day

Trees on which birds warbled their morning song are turned into newsprint paper and sold as midday editions on the same day in certain parts of the Rhine district, says Paperfabrikant, the leading German papermakers' organ.

The exact time taken in the process is 2 hours 25 minutes. The trees were felled at 7:25 a.m.; pulped and turned into paper by 9:30, rushed in a motor to the printing office and at 11 o'clock newspaper boys were crying the local sheet on the streets.

CHILDHOOD INDIGESTION

Nothing is more common in childhood than indigestion. Nothing is more dangerous to proper growth, more weakening to the constitution or more likely to pave the way to dangerous diseases. Puffy cheeks, the loss of the minor signs of childhood have their root in indigestion. There is no medicine for little ones so equal to Baby's Own Tablets in relieving this trouble. They have proved of benefit to Mrs. J. M. Lander, immaculate Conception, Que., writes: "My baby was a great sufferer from indigestion, but the Tablets soon set her right and now I would not be without them." Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medical dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Nothing New in Liner Luxury

Inventiveness of Designer Seems to Have Reached Limit

The steamer Majestic of the White Star Line, is the largest ship in the world, built in lines and tonnage. Her length is 945 feet, makes her 6 feet longer than the Leviathan and her tonnage is 1700 greater than that of the Leviathan.

The most remarkable thing about this new glances, however, is something that is negative. According to the dispatches from the other side, the Majestic, which is the first great passenger steamship built since the end of the war, offers little new in luxury. She has everything that the imagination and ingenuity of man can provide for the seagoing, but no great innovation can be inventoried. Suites de luxe, swimming pools, gymnasiums—all these she has, but all these are familiar to the traveler who has used any one of the finest half dozen of the liners.

Her inventiveness of the steamship designer come to the end of the road? If there were anything new the Majestic would wear it, for in her are the British pride of ownership and the German pride of workmanship; for the Majestic, when her keel was laid, eight years ago, was intended to be the Dismark. A ship like this boasts everything in the way of comfort and pleasure that its size permits; nothing seems lacking except a regulation baseball field and golf links.

Speed is used to be constantly improving quality of ocean steamers, but the builders cannot hope to get much more out of the engines of the floating hotels than the twenty-five knots shown by the Majestic in her trials. For speed we look to the airplanes. The Santa Maria sailed up from Havana to New York the other day in seventeen and a half hours, while in three or four times as fast as any steamship could make the journey.

And, after all, even if it could be done, what would be the joy of steamship to Europe in a day or two. Nobody can learn shipboard thoroughly in such a short time.—From the New York Herald.

Feathers, Fringe and a Bag to Match Milady's Chapeau!

Fringe! There is nothing new about fringes. It has been used in every way and in every place under the sartorial sun, but so firm a place has it won in our affections that we must have at least a bit of it on some garment in our wardrobe. On the overblown of spring it lends an attractive finish to the bottom, as well as to the sleeves. It gives a suggestion of grace to whatever it embellishes.

And (over) As elaboration of your dates back no further than the Garden of Eden, but Milady 1922 affects them as often as she possibly can and never them just as dearly as did Eve.

And there is nothing particularly peculiar in the matching of the hat and the bag, but it is a pleasing fancy and one which is revived annually when March goes out like a lamb.

A Few of the World's Lofly Peaks

Some of Nature's Most Gigantic Works Along Line of C.P.R.

The Canadian Pacific Rockies comprise some of Nature's most gigantic works. This can be better visualized when it is said that in the various mountain ranges that make up the Canadian Pacific Rockies, there are according to Government measurement, no less than 598 mountain peaks over 5,000 feet in height above sea level.

A great many of these majestic peaks are visible from the train, while others may be explored at leisure during the stay at its many beautiful resorts such as Banff, Lake Louise and Glacier.

Low summer tourist tickets are on sale daily to Vancouver, Victoria and other Pacific Coast points, which allow stopover at any or all of the mountain resorts.

The trip through the Canadian Pacific Rockies to the Pacific Coast ranks among the finest in the world, with nature at her best during the summer months.

Four trans-continental trains each daily will be operated by the Canadian Pacific Railway this summer through the Rockies, each equipped with open top observation cars. This service will include Canada's finest and fastest trans-continental train "The Trans-Canada Limited."

At length he stepped from the platform, took the child from its mother's arms, carried it to and fro, cooed and coaxed it, quieted the storm and returned the child to its mother. The he remounted the platform and continued his address in peace.

HEART WOULD BEAT LIKE A TRIP HAMMER

Heart trouble has of late years become very prevalent. Sometimes a pain catches you in the region of the heart, now and then your heart skips beats, palpitates, thirble, or beats with such rapidity and violence you think it is going to burst.

You have weak and dizzy spells, slinking sensations, are nervous, irritable and depressed, and if you attempt to walk upstairs or on any distance you get all out of breath.

We know of no remedy that will do so much to make the heart regain its strength and vigor, regulate its beat and restore it to a healthy normal condition as will

HEART AND NERVE PILLS

Mrs. Chadwick, Delhi, Ont., writes: "I had palpitation of the heart, and the least exertion, such as going upstairs or up a hill, my heart would beat like a trip hammer and at times I was dizzy-headed and had a sinking sensation as if my time were near."

A friend suggested I try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, so I procured three boxes, and by the time the third one was used I began to improve. In all I took six boxes, and now although in my 60th year I feel like a young man, am free from nervousness and am now a weak man without fatigue. At the time I weighed 160 lbs. now I weigh 160 lbs."

Now take a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Remarkable Generosity

Sandy, the farmer, had been staying with some friends for about a month, and while he and his host were out for a walk one day they called at the wayside inn for a drink. As his host was about to pay for it Sandy stopped him.

"No, no," he said. "I'll not allow it. I've been keeping me in everything at yer house for a month, and ye've treated me to th' chairs, and the cab fare, and paid for all the drinks. I tell ye, I'll have no more of it. We'll toss for this one."

MINARD'S LINIMENT

Mrs. MARQUERITE K. O'LEARY, of Reading, Pa., who says she has gained eight pounds and can hardly find words to express her praise for Tanlae for the good the medicine did her.

"I am so happy over what Tanlae has done for me I can hardly find words to express my praise," said Mrs. Marquerite K. O'Leary, who lives with her parents at 1223 Chestnut St., Reading, Pa. "I wasn't exactly what would be called sick, but for a year I had been all run down and sometimes fell so weak and dizzy I could hardly hold up my head. I was so nervous the telephone bell or a door closing would startle me so I would tremble like a leaf. "I needed something to build me up and give me strength and energy, and that is exactly what Tanlae did. It gave me a fine appetite and improved my digestion. I gained eight pounds, the color came back to my face, my nerves became normal and I now feel as well as I ever did in my life. It is simply wonderful that medicine could make such a big change in any one of us. My friends and neighbors are surprised when they see me now, and no wonder, for I look like a different person. Tanlae is grand and I never intend to miss a chance to say a good word about it."

Here's a real treasure from Nature's storehouse

GOOD old Mother Nature has placed in wheat and barley the wonderful food properties which build and sustain life and health.

Many so-called "refined" foods are robbed of vital elements which the body needs.

Grape-Nuts—that famous wheat and barley food—brings you all the natural goodness of the grains in perfected form, with a crispness and flavor that charm the appetite.

You will find Grape-Nuts an ideal dish for breakfast or supper-time. Ready to serve from the package, with cream or good milk.
